CARING FOR OUR KIDS

Our children's health encompasses their physical, mental, and social well-being. The Caring for Our Kids Conference was designed to address three of the most critical issues threatening our children's well-being on Key Biscayne: Vaping, Distracted Driving, and Cyberbullying. We've invited experts in each field to describe the challenges and present practical solutions parents will find easy to incorporate in their daily lives.

Ana Moreno

Ana Moreno, LMHC, MCAP, CIP, CAI, CDWF, ICADC is a therapist, interventionist, consultant, and educator in Miami, and is the Co-Founder of R & A Therapeutic Consultants, a practice offering therapeutic consulting and interventions. For over 18 years, Ana has been working in substance abuse and mental health field. Ana is a Licensed Mental Health Counselor, a Qualified Clinical Supervisor in the state of Florida, a Certified Intervention Professional and a Certified ARISE® Interventionist.

Debbie Wanninkhof

Cell phone use while driving is an epidemic in our country. This risky and negligent behavior has caused many tragedies on our roads. Debbie Wanninkhof is on a mission to make roads safer in Florida. She fought tirelessly in our state capitol to get stronger distracted driving legislation. Florida took a step toward protecting its citizens when in July of 2019 texting while driving became a primary offense and school zones and work zones became hands free.

Jeff Ervine

Through his experience as the target of an severe type of online defamation, Jeff came to realize that the only effective way to address online bullying and harassment is by identifying problems before they morph into real incidents of bullying or abuse. Jeff and his team of experts have created the first set of data-driven mobile tools to empower community members to create and enforce the boundaries necessary to create cultures of safety and wellness in schools.
